MORGAN THIRD IN BOY'S CLUB WORK

This County Exceeded Only By Two Others In Entire State

Morgan County now ranks third in enrollment of members of boy's fair clubs, according to figures recently announced in Montgomery, this county being exceeded only by Jefferson and Elmore. The combined enrollment of Coosa and Tallapoosa also exceeded that of Morgan, but two counties are counted as one.

Jefferson County leads the state with an enrollment in 1926 of 325 members, while Elmore comes second with an enrollment of 224. Coosa and Tallapoosa counties, counted as one district, have an enrollment of 217, while Morgan County has a total of 207.

The counties in this, the first district, reported as follows:

District No. 1	1923	1924	1925	1926
Limestone	112	72	83	57
Lauderdale	62	89	47	18

TRAMMELL STILL CRITICALLY ILL AT BENEVOLENT TODAY

Physicians Feel His Condition Is Well As Can Be Expected

PROSECUTION OF MAN UNLIKELY

Land Case Has Been Continued As Result Of The Affray

The condition of D. M. Trammell was described today by physicians as 'critically ill, but resting as well as could be expected.'

Trammell, a Birmingham man, was taken to the Benevolent hospital Tuesday afternoon after he had received a knife wound in the stomach, said to have been inflicted by Aud Trammell, a brother. Trammell was seriously wounded after he is declared to have entered into a discussion of a land settlement, scheduled to have been heard Tuesday in the equity division of the circuit court. The unfortunate event occurred on the lawn at the Morgan County courthouse.

Deputy Sheriff Ben Poole declared today that no effort is being made by county officers to place Aud Trammell under arrest as no prosecution has been asked.

The case has been continued at the request of parties concerned, it was stated today by Marvin West, registrar.

The case is the result of a settlement of the will of W. D. Trammell who died and left 239 acres of land, situated between Albany-Decatur and Hartsville, known as the Jake Hartsville place, to eleven heirs. The land was sold on May 17, last, for the sum of $4,700.

It is stated that W. S. Trammell holds mortgages on the place and desired a settlement, the mortgages to be satisfied out of the proceeds of the sale. It was upon this point, it is thought, that the family difference arose.

Eight brothers had gathered here Tuesday for a decision upon the case. The cutting affray occurred during the noon recess.

Request For Klan Parade Is Denied

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 16—Mayor Hague today refused permission for the realm of New Jersey Ku Klux Klan, to hold a parade and demonstration here, with from 10,000 to 30,000 persons taking part.

He said rioting and lawlessness had "invariably attended" such demonstrations.

The request was made in a letter from the Rev. Edward Young, D. D. of Belmar, grand kloran.

James Volunteer Contributor For Junior C. C. Fund

Despite the fact that the campaign for funds for the Junior Chamber of Commerce has not yet formally opened, Jimmie James, well known local cafe operator, and public-spirited citizen, today called an official of the organization and handed over a $5.00 bill as his contribution.

It had been decided by the Junior directors that no contribution of more than $5.00 would be asked toward the $1,000 fund. Mr. James' patriotic act was appreciated deeply by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

WORK IS UNDERWAY ON TRINITY ROAD

Half A Mile Is Saved With Change In The Routing

Work has been started by A. V. Little on the building of the Trinity road, running from the Courtland pike intersection to the top of Trinity Mountain. Location and grading crews are at work today. Contract was let by the county road commission some weeks ago.

The roadway at completion will be one of the best in the county, the routing around the mountain having been changed at a paying of perhaps half a mile. The roadway will be 22 feet in width with a 14 foot 'metal,' or hard surface top.

Completion of the project will provide an all year transportation facility to the people in that section, reaching Albany-Decatur by way of the Courtland-Decatur highway.

Kiwanis To Meet at High School

Albany-Decatur Kiwanis club will gather at 11:30 Thursday at the Decatur high school auditorium where the club will conduct the devotional for the young ladies attending the Morgan County short course. The Kiwanians will go from the high school auditorium, to the Y. M. C. A., where luncheon will be served.

NEW YORK witnessed a religious ceremonial yesterday, such as had not been set, outside of Italy or Spain, for a century.

The great procession of Catholic dignitaries proceeded up Fifth avenue to St. Patrick's cathedral, where Cardinal Bonzano, sent by the pope to Chicago's eucharistic congress, was solemnly welcomed.

THERE were nine cardinals leading the procession of the churchmen, eight of them from foreign countries. Ten archbishops, thirty bishops, dozens of Monsignori, priests and lesser lights of the Roman Catholic church were included in the march to the cathedral, made solemn and impressive by incense abundantly used along the route.

WITNESS IN SHIRLEY TRIAL FOUND AT HER HOME BY OFFICERS

Mrs. Clarence Pearson Said To Have Tried To Take Own Life

TATE ON STAND FOR STATE AGAIN

Deputy Insists That No Liquor Was Used By Jones Party

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 16.—

The "mystery woman" in the Shirley trial tried to slay herself at noon today, court officers were advised.

She is Mrs. Clarence Pearson, 919 South 18th street, and a well known woman, officers said. She was removed to South Highland's infirmary, where it was said her condition was serious as result of a slashed throat.

She attempted to take her life while officers were searching for her as a witness, officers reported.

Mrs. Pearson made the attempt upon her life, officers reported, after she had served a summons upon her husband and told him they would return for Mrs. Pearson. Before the officers returned to the Pearson home, the woman is alleged to have cut her throat with a butcher knife.

Mrs. Pearson is said by officers to be the woman reported to have occupied a seat in the car of Byron Shirley and Dewey Barrett the night they shot to death John Jones. The woman's identity had been shrouded in secrecy, although Solicitor Davis has said all along he had a surprise witness.

Mrs. Pearson was discovered lying across a bed, bleeding profusely, by State Law Officer McClumb, when he went to serve a subpoena for her attendance at court instantly.

She was conscious but refused to talk. The officer ordered her removal to the hospital. The woman had lost much blood, but the jugular vein had not been cut.

Mrs. Pearson is about 25 years of age and is described as a very beautiful woman.

After she had been removed to the hospital, her husband joined her there, although he was under subpoena to appear in court.

Hints of "mystery witnesses" brought an ever swelling throng today to the trial. Seats in the courtroom were filled hours before the morning session began and men and women literally fought for standing room in corridors adjacent.

Curiosity was at high pitch as a result of the testimony of principal state witnesses that at least one woman occupied a seat in the Shirley automobile on the night that he and Dewey Barrett, another deputy sheriff, shot Jones to death on the Montgomery highway.

Miss Thelma Shipp and J. C. Tate, a former deputy sheriff, who occupied places in Jones' car, both testified they saw a woman in the Shirley car. This had been strenuously denied by the defense since the accusation of those shortly after the slaying.

Solicitor Davis had hinted that he knew Shirley and Barrett were accompanied by a woman and she is supposed to be the "mystery witness."

Shirley stated after the killing, through his attorney, that he and Barrett were looking for liquor cars on a regular raiding expedition when they mistook Jones' car for a liquor vehicle.

ALABAMA OFFICERS ARE UNSUCCESSFUL IN THEIR ATTEMPTS

20-Year Old Ohian Not To Be Returned To Face Trial Here

DEFENSE CLAIMED ALIBI FOR MAN

Local Officials Today Reticent About Case Pending Advices

Sheriff Poole and Solicitor Almon returned home from Cleveland early this afternoon.

Robert W. Seligman, 20 year old Ohian, will not come back here to stand trial in connection with the slaying of T. A. Bryant; according to a decision of Governor Donohay, of Ohio, reported in an Associated Press dispatch to The Daily from Cleveland today.

The dispatch follows: "Papers for the extradition to Alabama of Robert W. Seligman, 20, on a murder charge, were denied by Governor A. V. Donohay yesterday. Seligman is said to have been wanted in Decatur, Ala., for the slaying, February 20, of Thomas Bryant, grocer, in that place during a robbery. D. C. Almon, solicitor of the eighth district of Alabama represented that state at the hearing."

Morgan County officers here today were reticent about the case, in the absence of further advices from Cleveland, and it was not known what the next step, if any, will be.

Sheriff Earnest Poole, Deputy Gus Poole and members of the Bryant family have been in Cleveland and Columbus for several days following receipt of information that Seligman was held there for the Alabama authorities. Solicitor Almon also went to Cleveland when it became apparent that Seligman would resist extradition to Alabama.

In advices sent here by the defense the claim was made that Seligman could establish an alibi by proof that he was in Chattanooga on the date of the Bryant shooting, and it is presumed that this evidence was submitted to the Ohio executive in resisting the granting of requisition papers.

Mr. Bryant was wounded fatally on Saturday afternoon, February 20, when he attempted to protect himself against a young bandit who entered his store on East Market street and demanded the contents of the cash drawer. The merchant was shot and also struck with some heavy instrument, thought at the time to have been a meat cleaver.

After fatally wounding the grocer, the bandit flourished his revolver, menaced several witnesses who had gathered, and then made his escape in a Ford coupe.

BROKEN HEARTS OF HOLLYWOOD

BY EDWARD CLARK

Copyrighted by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"BROKEN HEARTS OF HOLLYWOOD" with Louise Dresser is a Warner picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Travelling alone on the Los Angeles Limited is Betsy Ann Terrell, a girl of surpassing beauty. Hal Chutney, a handsome young man, boards the train in Iowa. Seatmates, and mutually attracted, each learns that the other is on the same station-bound for Hollywood, as prize winner of a newspaper contest, to get a movie tryout. They have great fun when Hal shares his "home-cooked" supper with Betsy, who contributes the dessert-candy hearts.

Back from the diner at this juncture came a fat male passenger who had prolonged his meal hour and reduced his digestion by the use of liquids other than those on the table. The Limited strained around a curve, just when the bilious passenger was opposite Betsy and Hal, and as pediatric soundness is not a virtue of the condition he was in, the fat passenger fell athwart their laps. Whether or not he skinned his own shins or bruised their knees mattered little; for after he had been fished by the combined efforts of Aloysius and Hal from the floor between the seats, thus relieving the pressure of his elbow from Betsy's pet corn, and the two young people sat down calmly again, they discovered a tragedy that in the worst case had gone unnoticed until now.

The shock of the man's fall had jostled the candy hearts from their hands, and they lay now crumbled and broken on the floor. Betsy and Hal, gazing mournfully upon them, could not dispel from their thoughts a feeling—absurd as it might be, yet tenacious—that this trivial little mishap was prophetic. "I hope," said Betsy, while they gazed uneasily into each other's eyes, "that's no sign of what's going to happen to us in Hollywood."

CHAPTER III

Life itself is a good deal like a railroad trip; there's a lot of fuss and admiration and peeping at the beginning, but usually little attention at the ending. Many a wayfarer whose start was heralded with congratulations and brass has reached the finish uncondoled and unattended in some dark alleyway of night; and many a traveller who set out to linkling symbols steps off uncelebrated at journey's ending, searching in vain for a friendly, familiar face in the jostling crowd.

So it was with Betsy and Hal when they stood at last in Los Angeles, on the platform of the Transcontinental terminal, which looked more like an olden Spanish mission than a modern railroad depot. Approaching Los Angeles their enthusiasm had welled up to flood tide. In all the practical workaday world there is no thrill comparable to that of Youth's first arrival at the threshold of Ambition's Goal. Yet in the last few minutes that marked the crawling of the great overland train into the station, and its sighing halt, the eager waters of excitement had receded and left two throbbing hearts stranded high and dry upon grating sands of nervousness. The waves of hope slapped hollowly in the furthestmost bays of their consciousness as they stood uncertain now in the oasis of their own luggage on the desert of the station platform. Quite without intent, they were holding hands.

Gone now the intimacy of the Pullman car for which they had formed a sentimental attachment; gone the recognized faces of travel mates, and the comfort of Aloysius' monumental grin. All, all were scattered—the cozy hours.

"Is-Isn't it big?" said Betsy thinly, involuntarily meaning the circumstances as much as the station.

"Yes," agreed Hal, staring around in some disappointment.

What Price Kaisers and Pretzels?

IT'S bock beer season in Germany now, and about the most popular personage in all the country is the Pretzel Man.

He's all dressed up and some place to go—plenty of places, because there's no end of merry beer gardens where the good old Moenchner flows, and the Easter brew, or bock beer, has helped formally to usher in the Spring.

The Pretzel Man looks like a Kaiser now, and he's got more authority and more claims for reverence, too, than Wilhelm Hohenzollern has. Wilhelm can't wear a resplendent series of fifty or sixty uniforms any more, as he did in the good old days, before he got ambitious and tried to take in too much territory. He is a private citizen, an exile in Holland, and even the Pretzel Man of Munich cuts a more regal figure as he makes his rounds among the beer drinkers.

Wilhelm was long known as the vainest, most conceited of all living monarchs. The cause of more bitterness to him than all things else was the fact that he had been born with paralysis of his left arm, and this withered member, several inches shorter than the right arm, he invariably rested on the hilt of his sword. For that reason he appeared more frequently in one of his extremely numerous military uniforms than in any other.

And now Wilhelm hasn't a sword any more, though he has a great many more causes for bitterness than he had when he strutted his kingly stuff in the capital of the empire. Perhaps he would gladly change places with the lowly Pretzel Man, just to wear a uniform once more—and to have a resting place for his left hand—even though it might be only a wooden sword.

"HOCH!"—TWO OF 'EM! Left, the Pretzel Man of Munich, Who Wears About the Most Lordly Uniform in Germany. Nowadays, and, Right, the Ex-Kaiser of the German Empire, as He Looks in His Homely "Civvies."

5,000 DISABLED WORLD WAR VETS MEET IN ATLANTA

By H. JEFFERSON REID,
International News Service Special Correspondent

ATLANTA, Ga.—

Five thousand blind, mangled, and shell-shocked warriors will bring to the South a grim reminder of the world's most gruesome conflict when the sixth annual national convention of the Disabled Veterans of the World War meets here June 21-26.

Atlanta is preparing to provide a week's round of festivity in homage to the disabled heroes, and to do this the citizenry has responded to a request of $35,000 for entertainment purposes. Every effort will be made to make the convalesce the most memorable in the organization's history.

Amid effusive Southern hospitality the key to Atlanta literally will be turned over to the maimed soldiers, and the Georgia capital will swing wide its gates to the veterans.

Coolidge Invited
Invitations to President Coolidge and members of his cabinet have been

Ask Your Friend who has Traveled Abroad to give you a comparison between the railroads of the United States and those of the Old World; to tell you something about the accommodations afforded as to luxury of travel, as to frequency of trains and as to dependability of reaching your destination on time.

The American Pullman car as used by this and other great trunk lines, affords not only comfortable and clean beds, but adequate toilet facilities, which are not to be found even on the finest trains in Europe. Between the principal American cities and the points of interest there are many railroads operating many fast trains daily and Sunday. In Europe only a very limited number of trains operate through the week, and on Sunday, most of the fast trains are taken off and practically all of the dining-car service is done away with—making it necessary for travelers to get off even the best trains at stations and eat at lunch counters.

While some of the Continental trains run faster per mile than American trains, their through schedules are on the whole very much slower. For instance, between Cincinnati, Ohio and Mobile, Alabama—a distance of 781.3 miles—the Pan-American requires but 20 hours, 33 minutes; whereas, between Nice and Paris—a distance of but 675 miles (106 miles shorter than between Cincinnati and Mobile)—23 hours, 25 minutes is required on their fastest trains. Think of this again! In America, 781 miles in 20 hours and a half—in France, 675 miles in 23 hours and a half.

extended by the convention committee but whether or not they will attend the opening session is not certain.

Among the distinguished visitors who have definitely promised to attend the convention are General John R. McQuigg, National Commander of the American Legion; John W. Mahan, National Commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War; General Hines, director of the Veterans' bureau at Washington and others.

Special trains will be operated from every important railroad center in the nation to convey delegates, alternates and visitors to Atlanta.

Business sessions of the convention will be held in the auditorium, which has a seating capacity of 6,000. Numerous banquets, barbecues, trips to the Stone Mountain memorial, and other activity has been planned to infuse an atmosphere of festivity throughout the veterans' visit.

BUSINESS MEN WILL PLAY BALL AT 4:15

Managers Are Silent On Choice For Hill Work Thursday Afternoon

Silence, maintained with the stillness of a stone, characterized the plans of rival managers of Albany and Decatur Business teams, meeting Thursday afternoon at Malone Park at 4:15 o'clock. The game is free of charge to the public.

Though there was little information given out today, for fear rival camps might get hold of valuable "inside" information, Manager Harlan Hunter of the Albany cohorts announced that the game is open to all baseball material in the Twin Cities. He added that all who care to play come to the park Thursday afternoon, loaded with heavy artillery and ready to go on the firing line, leaving the impression that he is a bit skittish about the Decatur line-up for the coming battle.

The game features the regular half-holiday declared by establishments in the two cities for Thursday afternoons through the hot months.

MA FERGUSON'S THREAT TO RESIGN IS PERPLEXING VOTERS OF TEXAS

By E. G. STUDHALTER

International News Service Staff Correspondent

FORT WORTH.

Will "Ma" Ferguson resign if she is defeated in the primaries by Dan Moody?

This is a question that is perplexing voters of this state today.

Mrs. Ferguson agreed that if Moody gubernatorial candidate and her bitterest political foe, and present Attorney General, leads her by just one ballot she will resign, providing he, too, will resign if she leads him by as many as 25,000 votes.

"Regardless of the result he and I could stay in office until the second Tuesday in January, 1927," Mrs. Ferguson's challenge said. "But I will agree that if he leads me one vote in the primary I will immediately resign without waiting until next year."

Some folks believe Mrs. Ferguson will stand by her challenge, while others are of the opinion she will remain in office until next January, even if defeated.

The question can be answered, however, only after the primaries on July 24. If Moody defeats her there is sure to be great agitation over her resignation.

Her Predicament

Mrs. Ferguson's announcement the other day that she will call a special session of the legislature for the purpose of attempting validation of Texas district road bonds, has caused many observers to believe that either she has no fear as to the outcome, or that she will find some way to extricate herself from the unusual proposition made Moody.

The special session has been agitated for some months—ever since the United States Supreme Court ruled that the Archer County bonds were invalid. By this ruling approximately $100,000,000 other bonds, voted during the last seven or eight years, may be also affected.

A committee composed of highway association officials, bondholders, lawyers and members of the legislative bodies was organized with a purpose of drawing up bills proposing to remedy the situation. Numerous ways out of the muddle have been suggested by legal authorities.

Bill Drawn Up

The committee finally drew up a bill, said to have been approved by some of the ablest legal experts in the country and presented to the governor. For a while she deferred action, pleading time for full consideration. Pressure was brought upon her to call the session immediately, as bondholders were growing a bit uneasy, and the sale of recently-voted bonds was being held up in some quarters. Some politicians said she did not care to call the session at this time for fear that politics would have the right-of-way over the bond validation.

Under the rules, the Senate must, at the first session of the next legislature, act upon recess appointees, along with other matters. Among these appointees are two highway commissioners who took office after two former commissioners, resigned following a suit brought against two road companies by Attorney General Moody for cancellation of contracts which were alleged to have been fraudulent. Should the session be called now, observers say, a fight over these commissioners would surely be started, which might turn some voters from the Ferguson's to other candidates.

She Feels Safe

In Mrs. Ferguson's announcement

she said she thought it unwise to call the body into session at this time in view of the conditions attached to the campaign, but would do so in September or October.

So it appears Mrs. Ferguson expects to occupy the executive mansion until at least next January.

Meanwhile James E. Ferguson, the Governor's husband and former Governor and Moody are making addresses in practically every section of the state, playing each others record—one defending "Fergusonism," the other declaring that "Ferguson rule must cease."

And in the background stands Lynch Davidson of Houston, third of the leading candidates. Some observers say he holds the whip hand in this campaign. Not that they say that he has a chance to become governor. Few people think Davidson has enough strength to defeat these two candidates. But that his candidacy is a factor there is hardly a doubt.

Many observers say that Davidson will split the vote against Mrs. Ferguson. A petition signed by a number of prominent citizens of Lampasas asked that Davidson, if, as he says, Ferguson rule must end, he must get out of the race to allow Moody to take his votes and by getting out Davidson can elect Dan Moody.

Hartselle News

Many fine snap beans are being brought to market now raised locally and also fine Irish potatoes have been on the market for several days. A large acreage of this latter vegetable was planted, and there is every reason to believe that the present crop will be a large one, of fine quality weather conditions being ideal.

Flint creek is still a veritable mud hole since the heavy rains of several days ago, and until it clears, all hopes of fishing there are dissipated. The waters are unusually slow in clearing the loose plowed dirt having been washed into the creek by the heavy rains and much of it from the red loam, caused the clearing process to be slow indeed.

The Bank of Hartselle has just completed improvements and there is now a handsome Marquette awning, around brick pillars on either side of the entrance, marble slabs just under the plate glass windows, and tiling throughout the lobby and a space about three feet wide is tiled on the outside clear across the front opening. It makes a pleasing improvement to this bank, the repairs being necessitated on account of the bank robbery there several weeks ago. In addition to this, a new vault has been completed and in use, and tear gas apparatus installed therein.

Van Patillo continues to improve slowly.

Two car loads of material for the new ice factory which will be erected here by local citizens arrived this week, and will be installed as rapidly as possible. Other improvements are to arrive soon, and it is thought that the new enterprise will be manufacturing ice within the next 30 to 60 days.

The plant will be located on the spot where the Hartselle Machine and Foundry Co., formerly was located, a fine well of water being on the s.p.t. one from which many homes of the city are receiving water through pipes.

It is thought that the water supply will be ample to take care of the new enterprise in addition to the supply already being drawn on.

Another Well-Known Birmingham Man Says That Herb Juice Relieved Him of Chronic Case of Constipation From Which He Suffered for 15 Long Years

"Before I used your splendid medicine, Herb Juice, I think I had lost it. Herb Juice, I think I had about as bad a case of stomach trouble, gas stomach and constipation as any one could have and still keep going," said Mrs. A. J. Thedford, well and favorably known to all who reside at 1285 First Ave., Birmingham, Ala., when he called to see the Herb Juice man recently.

Mr. A. J. Thedford

"I was in a terrible condition," continued Mr. Thedford. "I was just tired and worn out and run down generally and had headaches and pains across my back. No matter what I ate it seemed that I could not digest it. As soon as the food reached my stomach it would ferment, causing me to suffer great pain and a full, tight feeling from gas. I was also dreadfully constipated and had been for 15 long years and while I have taken practically everything I could hear of, I never seemed to get any relief. Some time ago I began taking Herb Juice and I must say that this medicine has given me more relief than I ever dreamed I would get. In fact, I feel better today than I have several years. I have found Herb Juice to be a wonderful system purifier that I have used and through its mild and gentle action on the bowels it has given me a whole system. I think Herb Juice is a wonderful medicine. In fact the best I have ever used and I have tried many a one in the past 15 years. I am glad to make this statement in behalf of the wonderful remedy for it has given me more relief than any one else I have ever tried."

TOO MUCH ARDOR MAY LEAD TO DIRE RESULTS

An unfortunate occurrence was recorded as happening upon the courthouse lawn at the Morgan county courthouse Tuesday afternoon, another unfortunate occurrence was very likely to happen, it was stated, when an officer who was doing his duty intervened and prevented further disturbance. Later, those who were mixed in the latter alleged controversy thanked the officer for quelling the disturbance. Their ardor had cooled, they had finally controlled seemingly ungovernable tempers and were at peace with the world again. If men could but think before rash acts are done, there would not be half the misery in this world that there is, officers cannot be around all the time to remind people that they must control themselves, else there is a penalty in sight. Men do not think when they commit crime, they imagine or their brain cells refuse to work altogether. That is why an insanity plea is always so easily made before the courts of the land.

HAVE PEOPLE BECOME GROWN TO THE BED OF EASE?

Morgan county farmers are stirring this section in an effort to locate farm hands, according to statements made several days ago by visiting farmers in The Daily office. The agriculturists complain there is a lack of laborers and they fear that their crops will suffer lack of attention as the result. Perhaps there is plenty of labor at hand, but what wants to go to a cotton field to demonstrate a love for work? Good fat wages have removed all ideas of twelve hour days, sunrise to sunset; America is prosperous, the automobile is no longer a luxury, it is a necessity in every American household, just like bread and meat. What's the use of working so hard all day in the hot sun for small pay, though feed is all that is required, when you can work little more than half the day and draw a good wage? Yet, there are still some people who regard the farmer as a lazy man, because he works but four months out of the year. Little do we think as we go home to begin an evening of pleasure that if the American farmer was not safely in his American bed that the American people would perhaps be forced to inaugurate a back-to-the-soil movement and perhaps put some corn in their own hands and some sinewy muscles in their arms and legs. If the farmer is lazy then the remainder of the people must have settled into an eternal state of lethargy some eons ago.

OPELIKA HAS QUIT THREATENING TO GROW. SHE'S STARTED SOMETHING

You are no doubt apt at reading between the lines whether in the columns of a newspaper or in the faces of men and women. At any rate the following article from the front page of the Opelika News is ample opportunity for practicing a little reading between the lines:

Victory shines forth in a blaze of glory, and in six days' time 140 liberal and progressive citizens of this city and vicinity, have subscribed a total of $53,350, which, it is stated today by Scott Farley, speaking for the Farley Brothers, secures the new modern half million dollar eight-story elegantly equipped and furnished hotel for this wonderful little city.

The Farleys announce that this sum raised so magnificently by Opelika, swings the deal and they have contracted with the architect to go ahead with all final plans and specifications for immediate plans for Opelika's new hotel.

The goal was reached early this morning by hard working Chamber of Commerce workers, and in the great final rush of the campaign, $7,350 was raised today, which put the project over the top. Subscriptions poured in this morning, when it became known that instead of the original $60,000 sum to land the hotel, the Farley Brothers were willing on their own responsibility to insure the success of this great enterprise for Opelika, their home place since boyhood, by guaranteeing the balance of the sum required to put over the project. As a result of this news, busy campaign workers, put forth zealous efforts and with a smile and determination, rallied in the last great dash and crossed the goal at noon today—with a victory for the new spirit of the New Opelika, which is flashed to all parts of the south—that down here in Opelika, Ala., with 7,000 population, is a people game to the last, and a never-give-up spirit, working for the interest of their beloved city. What a satisfaction to a community to accomplish this remarkable feat. There are not many cities in the entire United States that can boast of a more loyal and patriotic home loving city. Nothing is impossible with a united citizenship. A city grows or retrogrades just to the extent of the public spirit of its people and Opelika has again demonstrated to the world that, we are sold on our city, there is nothing too good for Opelika, and will do anything at great sacrifices to insure the future permanent and substantial growth of our city.

Too much praise cannot be given the Chamber of Commerce for their untiring efforts night and day in the six days successful campaign, and a more loyal and faithful band of workers for a city has not been seen.

Yesterday's News editorial concluded with the statement, "Opelika will land the Hotel." This afternoon's News proclaims the story of the culmination of a citizenship's wonderful abiding faith in our beautiful little home city, and the prediction came true; Opelika landed the Hotel, and it is an accomplishment that speaks well for the bright future for Greater Opelika.

Do you get the picture, get the feeling, find the same spirit crawling up and down your backbone as you read these lines? Did you allow your imagination to rove for the moment and visualize the people living in Opelika, see the confidence, the eagerness to serve?

The question is this: Would other people see the same picture if they gazed upon the citizenry of Albany-Decatur?

You will notice something else about the Opelika editorial. Only 140 people were responsible for the building of the new hotel, the new hotel which will serve the entire population of Opelika. That is the case in every city, just so many people who take an interest in everything that is civic, and always manage to take up burdens, do all the work. Such a condition is admittedly unfair, yet something apparently which cannot be coped with, it's there, it's been there and there it will stay. It remains for the faithful few to continue in their untiring efforts to serve all interests.

Opelika has quit threatening, she has started something, she isn't large now but in future years, at the present, it is easily assumed that she will be a leader in her section if not a leader in the entire state. She already leads the south in spirit, so half of her fight has been won.

Frank as it may seem, Albany-Decatur has been threatening for a great many years, yet we have lacked the final punch so vital in time of need. The punch that wins prize fights or civic battles. We have been content to let come what may and not give particular attention to that which does not come of its own accord.

You may say that no definite proposition has been placed before the business interests and The Daily quite agrees that such is the case, you then add that the business interests of the two cities would go to the front rapidly if such a proposal was laid down and The Daily quite agrees with that statement also, but The Daily sees no absolute drawn line as to why a definite proposal should be laid down before work is begun. It is not up to the outside man or any civic organization in these cities to tell you what to work upon before you begin work, if you applied similar methods in your business you would soon be applying the lock on the front door with one hand while wiping a tear from your eye with the other.

Why should anyone be continually stirring you to action, showing you how to work, what to do, when it is all a duty of your own. Others have something to do beside punching you to keep your civic temperature at the right heat. It isn't a job that belongs to one man, nor an organization, it belongs to every last one of us and if these cities don't get out in front where they rightfully belong then it's nobody's fault but yours and mine. Don't lay the blame on your brother worker, it doesn't belong upon his shoulders.

There may not be an industrial giant applying for admission within these cities at this time, but there is plenty of work to do in the civic line. Getting the farmers into the cities, making them recognize the value of these cities as a trading center, making them see that Albany-Decatur is always glad to see them. Agricultural wealth is not to be ignored, in fact it is always to be encouraged, other cities do it, find it profitable, leaving reason to believe that Albany-Decatur can profit with a similar team of agriculture and industry.

We certainly have no cause to halt because things are not just exactly presented in a suitable light. It's our job to get out and put things in a suitable light, stop threatening to grow and do some growing, on our part and not depending upon others to grow for us as they have done in the past, coming here in many cases strictly upon the call of location and advantages offered. It's time to wake up and start something out of the ordinary line of growth, other towns have awakened from the sleep of the ages, turned over in their civic graves, kicked off the dirt and started fighting for existence. It's going to take a fight and we have all the fight that is necessary, simply a co-ordination of purpose must be effected, then watch our smoke.

Mexican Children Offer Prayers For Protection Against Bite of Scorpions

By International News Service
DURANGO, Mexico.

Imploring Divine protection against the fatal stings of the poisonous scorpions which infest this city, 9,000 children of Durango families attended the annual ceremony in the cathedral here, commemorating the martyrdom of Saint George.

Rich and poor children of all ages, bearing lighted candles and offerings of flowers, crowded the cathedral to lay their gifts in front of the image of the saint.

Considerable success has attended the injection of this serum into victims of the arachnid this season.

THINGS TO WATCH IN FEEDING A BABY

Care Should Be Used in Giving a Correct Amount of Wholesome Food, Otherwise Digestive Troubles Are Sure to Follow.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

YOUNG mothers have a lot to learn. Between babies every mother forgets a few things. certainly. Then, too, knowledge about curing babies and keeping them well is progressing all the time. So, you see, every mother has a lot to learn. I'd rather have the satisfaction of helping to lighten the burdens of mothers and to make life easier for little children than to be Emperor of the world. Wouldn't you?

Most of the troubles of babies have to do with their digestive organs. Their sensitive insides can get out of order without half trying. Just when you think a baby is 100 per cent well he suddenly begins to vomit and act up generally.

There are so many causes for vomiting in babies that it isn't easy to find out just what is wrong. This is a common symptom. Almost every disease that baby can get begins with vomiting.

But you need not worry your head off just because the baby vomits. It is not a sign of real disease by any means. Nursing babies are very likely to vomit every once in a while. Usually it is of no importance, except to indicate overfeeding.

Overfilling the stomach of an infant produces symptoms such as you have when you crowd your stomach. The organ rebels and you are inclined to empty it. If the child's feeding has been too rapid and the stomach has been filled to overflowing vomiting is the natural means of relief. The remedy is simple—reduce the quantity of food given at each meal.

Rapid feeding is just as bad for babies as it is for grownups. The fast swallowing causes air to be taken in with the milk. The stomach fills up with gas or air. Of course, if the stomach becomes inflated there may be vomiting of a more serious type. In that event the expelled material may not be the unchanged milk alone, but it may be milk mixed with slime and traces of blood, perhaps.

There may be present a form of indigestion which has vomiting as one of its symptoms. Then there is sourness of the vomited material. When vomiting is frequent without apparent cause it is important to find out what is wrong. The doctor will have the urine tested to make sure the kidneys are in good condition. Kidney trouble is one of the possible causes of this symptom.

The mother should give attention to the aliment, because a good many children form the habit of vomiting. Like other habits, it is difficult to overcome.

Sore throat, fever, the beginning of the little diseases children have, all these have vomiting among the possible symptoms. Badly indigestible food of every sort are bad for babies and may cause vomiting. In every case of vomiting—whether occasional or habitual—you should

CHARMING VISITORS

HONORED IN SHEFFIELD

Miss Maude Odum of Albany and Mrs. Ruth Tillman of Bessemer, shared honors on Saturday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Houze of Sheffield complimented them with a beautifully planned card party at their home on Austin Avenue.

A color note of pink prevailed in the house decorations and was prettily emphasized with stands of lovely summer roses in the chosen shades. Seven tables of players enjoyed the courtesy and auction bridge was played until a late hour. Mrs. R. A. Sanders was fortunate among the ladies and was given a dainty prize. Mr. Percy Macchaffi won the box of cigars offered as gentlemen's prize. Mrs. Clifton Richardson and Mrs. Fred Sittason drew the lucky cards the consolation contest. Mrs. Richardson received a telephone pad, and Mr. Sittason a deck of cards. The honorees were each given a box of Houbigan's dusting powder.

Following the games, a salad and an ice course was served. A bud vase of pink rosebuds adorned the center of each table and the color note of pink was further accentuated with individual mint cups holding mints, shaped as rose petals. Tri-Cities Daily.

BAILEY-PRIDE

WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

Amid the good wishes of a few friends and relatives who stood with them before the chancel of the Central Methodist church Miss Emma Pride and Mr. Allison Chapel Bailey were quietly married on Tuesday evening, June 15th, Rev. W. P. McGlawn performing the ceremony.

Miss Pride's brunette beauty was enhanced by her lovely costume of midnight blue flat crepe trimmed with blond crepe. Elizabeth and she wore blond accessories. Her corsage was of brides roses showered with valley lilies. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey left on the Pan-American for a short stay in Birmingham after which their bridal tour will include a visit to Niagara Falls, points in Canada and New York City. From the latter named city they will go to Savannah, Ga., by boat. After July 1st they will be at home with the groom's father, A. Z. Bailey on Gordon Drive.

The Orchid and the Wild Rose

By Juanita Hamel

WHEN Nature planned the flowers, she designed one to fit every human being in the world. Haven't you seen human daisies, and violets, and tiger lilies, and roses, and tulips and lilacs—oh, the comparisons are endless!

And these two, whom we have selected from the entire world, what more fitting than that one should be the Orchid and the other the Wild Rose? Can't you see it? One lovely, fragile, exotically beautiful but only when she is surrounded by the luxurious things that are essentially the background which will show her off at her best.

The other, equally lovely, but sturdy with the loveliness that only natural means can give, would smother if placed in the environments that are essential to the Orchid.

But—let me tell you a secret! The hearts of both of them are exactly the same. Both hoping and longing for Love; both waiting for the Right One to come and lay siege to the heart that is waiting.

For Love recognizes—not the exterior, but seeks ever the loveliness of the hidden heart. And it's this that makes the Orchid and the Wild Rose sisters at heart.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl of 17 and I have been going with a young man one year my senior. We have been corresponding for two years since he went to another city. Last Christmas he sent me a nice present and has never written any more.

Shall I write him again? ESSIE.

ESSIE: If you have written to him, then you must not write him again. Essie. Perhaps he does not wish to continue the correspondence, and the gift was a sort of farewell present. At any rate, if he still values your friendship and wishes to continue it he will write again.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl in my twenties. I am interested in a young man ten years my senior. I met this young man a year ago and he seemed to like me very much. On account of illness I haven't seen him since. Will you please advise me how to win his friendship? LONESOME TEDDY.

LONESOME TEDDY: Why not ask him to join you the next time you are entertaining a group of young people at your home. Teddy? Or ask him to make a fourth at bridge.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl in my teens. I have been going with a young man four years my senior for over a year. He says he loves me, but he is very jealous of me and does not want me to go out with other boys, as he isn't going with other girls.

What would you advise me to do? A BRUNETTE.

A BRUNETTE: Since you are not engaged to this young man there is no reason why you should give up your other friends for him. Go about with others and make him understand that he has the same privilege. Then, if he really values your friendship he will accept it on this basis.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: A boy has been coming to see me for a few weeks and I do not like him. I am anxious to know what you advise? E. M. L.

E. M. L.: Merely refuse the young man's plea when he asks permission to call again, my dear. And if you continue to do this consistently, he will realize that you are no longer interested in him—and he will stay away.

You can almost feel RHEUMATISM disappear!

THAT miserable ache from inflamed, swollen muscles—GONE! Rheumatism conquered! Driven right out of the system—simply by building rich, red blood.

Sounds almost incredible—but it's true! You see, rheumatism, as it is called, that cripples you up and tortures you night and day, is caused by impurities in the system. Weak, impoverished blood can't throw off these impurities—so rheumatism remains.

S. S. S. helps Nature build back your blood to fighting strength—builds red-blood-cells by the millions! Red blood purifies the system—rheumatism is driven right out.

Get this wonderful relief yourself! Thousands are doing it! S. S. S. has been stopping rheumatism by building up red cells in the blood for generations. It will do the same for you.

S. S. S. also cleanses your skin of blemishes—increases your appetite—puts power and strength and energy in your body. Get S. S. S. today from any druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

duce the woman Miss Shipp and Tate said occupied the Shirley car. Tate occupied the witness stand again today and was subjected to a rigid cross examination by Roderick Beedow, chief of defense counsel.

Tate, as on yesterday, appeared very nervous but he did not deviate at any time under fire from his original version of the killing.

Mr. Beedow carried him through a maze of questions, the meaning of which the courthouse crowd did not grasp. He rehearsed time and again events of the automobile ride and "party" that immediately preceded Jones' death.

A sharp verbal tilt between Mr. Beedow and Horace Wilkinson, special prosecutor, approached a personal encounter and afforded the crowd a thrill. Judge McCoy promptly squeezed the pugnacious attitude of the lawyers.

Tate stuck squarely to his story that there was no liquor on the party and that a woman occupied the car of Shirley, who was supposed to be on raiding duty. The witness contradicted the state's star witness, Miss Shipp, on the point that she said she had left the Jones' car before the shooting had ended, rushing to Jones' side. Tate said that he, Miss Shipp, and Mrs. Josephine McManus did not move from the Jones automobile until after the shooting had stopped.

Tate heard little that passed between Jones, Shirley and Barrett; Miss Shipp said she heard it all.

As on previous days of the trial, relatives of Shirley crowded close to his side. The defendant took deep interest in every detail of the testimony. He wore his accustomed smile and appeared unworried.

Jones had not been drinking so far as he was able to discover, W. A. Daniels, an undertaker, testified. He qualified his statement, however, by saying he was not certain whether it would be possible, in the process of embalming, to say with any degree of certainty whether Jones had or had not consumed whiskey several hours before he received the body.

Mr. Daniels testified that underclothing of Jones showed powder burns unmistakably. This testimony apparently bore out the defense contention that Jones was close upon Shirley and Barrett before they fired. It was Mrs. Pearson's second attempt to end her life today, officers later discovered. She leaped down the stairs in her home, a drop of 15 feet earlier, in the day landing on her head. She was stunned but not seriously hurt.

Neighbors, thinking she had fallen accidentally, gave first aid treatment and thought little of the circumstances. Mrs. Josephine McManus, companion of Jones, Miss Shipp and Tate on the night Jones was killed, corroborated, in minute detail the testimony of Miss Shipp, given yesterday. There was no liquor on the party, she said. The witness said Miss Shipp went to Jones' aid when the shooting began and that Jones died in her arms. She heard the same conversation between the men that Miss Shipp repeated yesterday.

Mrs. McManus is a widow and has three small children.

As Mrs. McManus entered the courtroom all heads were turned in her direction Sheriff Shirley and his son, Byron, turned completely in their chairs and craned their necks to catch a first glimpse of her. She was some few minutes in arriving and the courtroom vibrated. Byron ran his fingers through his hair.

Each of those vitally interested in the case watched each step of her progress toward the witness stand.

Mrs. McManus viewed the crowd in the courtroom with undaunted confidence. She walked at a steady pace into the room and went straight to the stand. She was dressed in a light orange dress, trimmed with a light collar. She wore a black straw hat with wide brim and carried a black leather pocketbook under her right arm.

During her examination by Solicitor Jim Davis, Mrs. McManus scarcely ever looked at him, nor did she look at anyone else in the courtroom except at scant intervals. For the most part her gaze was fixed upon the pad of the court stenographer, who sat immediately in front of the witness stand.

Amusements

Paramount's magnificent screen-entertainment "The American Venus" which immortalizes the charms of America's most beautiful girls is something more than a de luxe motion picture.

It is an eye-dazzling spectacle, a gorgeous extravaganza, a glorified and glorifying film masterpiece, in which lavish and amazing scenic effects, luxurious settings and rich and wonderful costumes are used to cover the bright and lively plot with a harmony of color, grace, beauty and novelty.

The story, Townsend, Martin built around a nation-wide search for the loveliest, shapeliest and most graceful girl in America, is chock full of comedy, romance, melodrama and thrills. Bound up with the beauty quest is a refreshing love story between one of the contestants and an enterprising young publicity man.

Never before has so much youth and beauty and talent been assembled in a screen production. The featured roles are brilliantly handled by Esther Ralston, Lawrence Gray, Ford Sterling and Fay Lamphier, who was crowned "Miss America" at the 1925 bathing beauty contest at Atlantic City. And the supporting cast includes Ernest Torrence, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., many noted stage celebrities, seven of the leading entries in the Atlantic City beauty pageant and twenty of the loveliest mannequins in the country.

Under the deft and intelligent direction of Frank Tuttle, the picture maintains a delicate balance between its purely visual features, such as the elaborate fashion show and the artistic tableaux, which were filmed in color, and its heart appealing action. At the Princess tomorrow.

Pels Make It Twelve Straight; Ruth Remains On Bench With Injury

The New Orleans Pelicans made it twelve straight Tuesday when they handed Chattanooga a 5-3 set-back. Luther Roy pitched well through the whole stretch winning his seventh straight game. Four double plays were made.

Errors by the Val infield gave the Mobile Bears another victory causing the Nashville string of losses to run to seven straight. The score was 4-1. Nashville did not score until the ninth grabbing their lone run off of Foster who succeeded Meritt Mackey was the leading hitter of the game getting three out of four.

Rain halted the finale of the Baron Chick series and the Atlanta-Little Rock tilt just before time for the battle.

Shocker held his former teammates to five hits and the Yanks took the last of the series from St. Louis 6-1. Gaston was wild allowing eight passes and seven hits in seven innings. Lazzeri hit a home run in the fifth with one on. The Babe remained on the bench suffering from a recurrence of his knee injury.

Detroit's Tygers used 19 players including five pitchers and four pinch-hitters to subdue the Boston Red Sox 7-6. Triples by Heilman and Tavenner in the ninth followed by Fothergill's single gave the Tygers their winning margin. Ehmke pitched all nine innings for Boston.

Philadelphia dropped the Cleveland Indians from second to fourth place with a 5-0 defeat. Walberg pitched an effective game throughout the nine innings and received excellent support. Four double plays, three of which were started by Engle a rookie shortstop, killed what chances Cleveland had for scoring.

Faber out-pitched Coveleskie allowing the Senators only five hits and one run while his teammates made their six hits count for four runs. A home run by Rice saved the pennant winners from a shut-out.

Cincinnati dropped the third in a row to the New York Giants in a tight pitching duel 3-2. The Reds got only three hits off of Ring while the Giants grabbed nine off Mays. Young's single and Lindstrom's double gave the Giants their winning run.

Philadelphia out-hit the Chicago Cubs and took the tilt 8-1. The Phillies had 17 men left on bases being retired three times with the bases full. Mitchell pitched well through the whole game.

Dazzy Vance struck out nine batters but Sherdell allowed only five scattered hits and Hornsby's Cardinals won 4-0. Jim Bottomly's tenth homer came in the sixth with one on. Billy Southworth made his debut with the Cards getting one hit.

Old Time Diamond Stars Will Tour Country In New Comeback

LOS ANGELES.

Names as familiar to the baseball maniac as Chiezykyzhjoustuvvxyz to the patriotic Pole will appear in the lineup this summer if plans now under way in Los Angeles are successfully completed.

Jesse Orndorff, former big league catcher, has announced his intentions of recruiting a team of old-time baseball idols for an invasion of the East. The Pacific Coast stars will meet a team composed of diamond veterans from the eastern side of the Rockies.

The only flaw in the ointment, it is said, is $3,500. This sum represents Orndorff's estimate of the expense of the invasion. He doesn't expect the three and a half grand to be a serious detriment, however. All he has to do is to raise it.

Orndorff's plans have been approved by the directors of the Professional Baseball Players' Association, the headquarters of which are in Los Angeles. Profits resulting from the games will be given to the Association's fund for the care of the players who neglected to "salt it away."

Men who have made baseball history and tradition will be asked to make the trip East. The list of old-timers includes the following:

Bill Lange, picked by Frank Chance as one of the greatest outfielders of all time, former White Sox center-fielder.

Sam Crawford, rightfielder for Detroit.

Rube Ellis, St. Louis Card center-fielder.

Sam Dungan whose last assignment was with the Senators in 1901.

Mike Donlin, famous Giant outfielder.

Pete Daly, outfielder for the Philadelphia Athletics.

George Stovall, "firebrand of the Federals," first baseman for Cleveland, and St. Louis, and later manager of the Kansas City Club in the Federal League in 1914-1915.

Zeb Terry White Sox shortstop.

Jerry Downs, second baseman with the Detroit Tigers.

Ralph Works, Detroit pitcher.

Bill Bernhardt, Cleveland pitcher and once-manager of the Salt Lake Club in the Pacific Coast League.

Bobby Wallace, St. Louis Brownie infielder.

Elmer Stricklett, leading exponent of the spitball and said to be the man who discovered the salivary gland. Stricklett moistened 'em up for the White Sox and the Dodgers.

Orvie Overall, one of the greatest curve ball pitchers in the history of the game, and one of Frank Chance's playmates on the old Chicago Cubs.

Tub Spencer, who "signed off" his varied diamond career with the Detroit Americans.

The games will be intensely interesting for reasons other than speed. It is rumored that some of the old boys are not in training.

PARIS.

Trout a la Nantua is one of the best French fish dishes.

Select best river trout of medium size, draw and clean thoroughly. Dip into salted milk and then roll in flour.

Put into frying pan with one-fifth pound of butter and when it begins to brown put in the trout and cook over a hot fire.

Remove to a serving dish. Season with salt, pepper, the juice of a lemon. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and cover with melted butter and three large spoonfuls of cream.

Serve with small croutons freshly fried in butter.

ALEMITE Transmission Lubricant

Saves repairs and keeps down cost of running your car. It is as different from ordinary gear compounds as the famous Alemite High Pressure Lubrication is different from the old-fashioned grease cup. Have you tried it?
